A Guide to Resources for Maine Entrepreneurs

Greetings. This guide provides a starting point for entrepreneurs seeking resources in the state of Maine. It is also designed to help individuals and organizations that support and guide entrepreneurs and startups and are looking for ways to match resources with those in need. The following categories of resources are included:

- Training, Technical Assistance & Mentoring
- Financing & Capital
- Incubators & Workspaces
- Libraries
- Networking & Advocacy
- State & Regional Economic Development

Recurring Conferences & Events in Maine are listed as well. While this guide is currently quite Portland-centric, our goal is to change this going forward as we identify more resources throughout the state.

We undertook the 2017 update of this document because we desire and are motivated to better understand the “ecosystem” in which entrepreneurship takes place in Maine.

This is simply a first shot at creating a comprehensive overview of Maine’s entrepreneurial ecosystem, and we welcome feedback on how to improve it. Many organizations post resources on their websites, which we cross checked with this guide. One exception is the Maine Small Business Guide published by the SBA, which is more extensive than this guide aims to be. A further disclaimer is that this guide does not delve into many of the industry-specific resources (i.e. food and marine innovation) that exist.

In addition to the listed organizations, the local and regional chambers of commerce and libraries throughout Maine provide a wealth of information relevant to entrepreneurship. Most of Maine’s colleges and universities also have, or are starting, programs relating to entrepreneurship. Check their respective websites for updates.

If you have suggested edits, additions, or ideas, or you would like to produce additional copies, please contact Susan at susan@newheightgroup.com or 207-633-4328. You are welcome to place the guide PDF as a resource on your web sites.

We will do our next update in time for the many events occurring in June. Meanwhile we wish entrepreneurs the very best with your endeavors and hope the resources assembled here assist you in your company’s growth. We are grateful to all of the organizations that support entrepreneurship in Maine and hope that this guide helps you “connect the dots.” Onwards!

Behind the Guide

Susan Morris is Principal of NewHeight Group, a Portland-based real estate development and services firm committed to creating high-quality live/work/play spaces while simultaneously striving to build community, enhance economic development, and support the arts.

Following her early career, working for global corporations and owning businesses, Susan moved to Maine in 2003. It didn't take long for her to become increasingly intrigued by the potential of startups and small businesses to grow Maine's economy.

In 2013, Susan decided to learn everything she could about what ecosystem existed to support entrepreneurs in Maine. Discovering there were many available but unknown resources, Susan drafted the first Guide to Entrepreneurship to help people "connect the dots" in Maine. Her guide then became part of A Guide to Resources for Maine Entrepreneurs produced by Maine Development Foundation's Leadership Maine Chi class in 2015.

Susan has actively engaged in Maine's entrepreneurial ecosystem and helped launch several programs through organizations such as Maine Startup and Create Week, House of Genius, Greenlight Maine, Maine Angels, MCED/Top Gun, Envision Maine, Women Standing Together, and Creative Portland's 2 Degrees Portland.

Liz Seward is a creative project manager who works with small teams and individuals to execute branding and marketing projects. She moved to Portland in 2015 after many years in New York City working with New York Road Runners as their Creative Services Director. Susan was one of the first people she met after moving in, thanks to 2 Degrees Portland, and the two hit it off. From there, it was only a matter of time before she became engaged in "entrepreneurs and startups" scene.

Liz has been a panelist for House of Genius and worked with the Marketing Committee for Maine Startup and Create Week 2016. She runs her own consulting business and coaches youth rowing in Yarmouth. When Susan proposed updating this guide, she jumped at the chance to dive even deeper into the subject and make it easier for other people to find out about all the great resources available to entrepreneurs here in Maine.
