

Ramble More Design is a small, Portland based company specializing in alternative photographic and printmaking media. We create murals and wall hangings for commercial, residential and non-profit organizations as well as home goods and accessories for retail, with a bent on historical, nautical and travel motifs. Ramble More is currently looking for a student who is motivated, has experience with social media and digital marketing, a good attitude/sense of adventure and who is willing to get a little messy in the studio every once and a while. Graphic design skills are a plus! If selected our intern would have the opportunity to among other things, manage a professional social media account, interact and make connections with local and national organizations and retailers, design collateral for marketing and potentially be able to join on various projects and adventures to create photographic content and provide documentation.

Tasks may include:

- Overseeing strategy and generating content for social media across platforms, including creating a social media calendar, designing posts etc.
- Providing graphic design for marketing collateral such as business cards, promotional materials for both print and digital, and other miscellaneous projects.
- Providing market research to identify opportunities for grants, commercial projects, and retail outlets both local and national.
- Assisting in studio production, as needed.
- Assisting in the installation process, as needed.
- Providing assistance with photographic documentation for process, installation and lifestyle content.

Interested students can reach out to Timothy Goldkin via email at ramblemoredesign@gmail.com to inquire and set up a time for an interview. Interviews will be held in person in our studio at 533 Congress st. located directly across the street from the Porteous building.

Work can be viewed on www.ramblemoredesign.com and on Instagram @ramblemoredesign